CAUGHT BY SURPRISE TEUTONS IN BIG DANGER

General Brusiloff Suddenly Shifts Attack, and, Taking Foe Off Guard, Is Driving Westward for Big Gains

BOTHMER'S FORCES IN EAST ARE CRUSHED

Germans Force British Patrols to Retire Near Faureaux Wood, but Are Unable to Follow Up Their Advance

PETROGRAD, Aug. 21.—By suddenly shifting his attack to the Stochod river front northeast of Kovel, General Brusiloff has caught the Germans off their guard and is driving westward for substantial gains. Severe fighting is reported.

In Friday and Saturday's fighting on this front, 1,366 prisoners, one cannon, eighteen machine guns and other materials were captured.

Realizing that General Bothmer's army had been crushed, the Germans began stripping their northern front of all available men and sending them southward to defend Lemberg. It was while this troop movement was under way that Brusiloff struck further north with his right wing. His flanking attack menaces both Kovel and the German army at Pinsk.

The Russian frontal attacks on Kovel virtually have ceased. The Germans have sunk turrets in the marshy ground west of the city. These turrets are virtually invisible to Russian air scouts and must be overcome by strategy rather than by massed infantry onslaughts. Consequently the line west of Kovel has remained stationary for some time.

During the lull on the Kovel front, the Russian armies under Generals Kaledin, Sakharov and Lettschitsky swung westward from Kovel, as a pivot, crushing Bothmer's army along the Strips. Expert opinion here is that more depends upon Brusiloff's campaign than the mere stand or fall of Lemberg and Kovel. Prisoners say that the northeastern part of Hungary is being evacuated by civilians because of the Russian advance, near Kovem.

LONDON, Aug. 21.—British patrols withdrew before strong enemy forces northeast of Faureaux wood in last night's fighting, but the Germans were unable to follow up the advance because of British artillery fire. General Haig reported this afternoon.

The Germans three times attacked British positions at Faureaux wood after heavy bombardment, but were each time repulsed.

PARIS, Aug. 21.—The Germans delivered a violent attack on Fleury near Verdun last night, using flaming liquid, but without result, says the war statement today.

Austrians Claim Repulse of Russians

BERLIN, Aug. 21.—The Austrian headquarters statement of August 19 received here from Vienna contains the following regarding operations on the eastern front:

Front of Archduke Charles Francis: West of the Moldova in Bukowina, Honved Infantry and German battalions stormed the much disputed heights of 3,000 gura. The Russians lost 600 prisoners and two machine guns in our hands. Russian counter attack failed.

West of Zabol we withdrew our advanced troops after violent fighting toward the Chornohora ridge.

Near Stanislau to the northwest our riflemen repulsed a Russian advance.

Front of Field Marshal von Hindenburg: Our troops repulsed a Russian attack near Szelow. Near Tobol on the Stochod the Russians advanced into our trenches, but were thrown back. A new Russian attack is in progress.

Bulgars Hit Hard in Balkans Great Offensive Is Resumed Italians Send Men to Saloniki

LONDON, Aug. 21.—The Bulgarians have opened heavy attacks on both wings of the allied armies in Greece and serious fighting is going on at both ends of the 150-mile battlefield.

The German war office this afternoon announced that the Bulgarians have captured Vichil, southeast of the Greek town of Florina, whose capture was officially announced Friday, and have taken other Serbian positions. An Athens despatch reported another Bulgarian force less than ten miles from the important Greek port of Kavala. The invasion of Greece has brought a new crisis to the Greek capital and has resulted in sudden conferences between the ministerial and the military heads. The Bulgarian advance has aroused no alarm in allied military circles.

The Bulgars, it was stated here this afternoon, are merely playing the game; they are hitting hard, counting on getting in a blow before the allies begin an offensive."

The fighting in the Balkans which threatens at any moment to develop into a great battle along the whole Greek border, eclipsed in interest operations on other fronts today.

ALLIED PREPARED.

PARIS, Aug. 21.—Reports from Saloniki show that the general engagement which began Friday is continuing with intensity over an extended front from Florina, near Monastir, to the River Struma. This represents an irregular line nearly 150 miles long.

General Sarral is directing the united operations of the allies, with General Cordonnier commanding the French. The operations have been long expected as a part of the allies' co-ordinated offensive on all fronts. They follow the arrival of General Cordonnier after extended conference with officials here.

Advices received in Paris indicate that the Germans and Bulgarians are seeking to anticipate the movement by taking the offensive on the left, where the Serbians had moved out to within twenty-five miles of Monastir, holding Florina as an observation post. Their orders were not to attempt to retain Florina if they were attacked. The Serbian war office says the Bulgarians were thrown back on their old positions but that later the Serbians, following instructions, evacuated Florina, which the Bulgarians then occupied.

SERBS FOLLOW ORDERS.

The Serbs retired slowly and later delivered a heavy counter-attack against a large Bulgarian force detaching from Florina. Fighting continues in this region.

In the center French and British forces near Lake Drama followed an intense bombardment with infantry attacks, in which the British occupied the strategic point of Dolzala.

The attempted counter offensive by the German and Bulgarian forces on both flanks of the entente allies' front in Macedonia, with the apparent intention of hindering the plans of General Sarral, the entente commander, will have no effect on the continuance of his campaign, it is said here.

The Fourth Greek army corps, which had divisions at Serez, at Kavala and also at Drama, fell back on the Bulgarians who were advancing.

HEAT WAVE IN MIDDLE-WEST IS FATAL TO MANY

Nine Relief Seekers Drowned in Chicago and 3 Paralysis Victims Die.

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—Relief from the terrific heat wave which has baked the plains states for the past week is due today, according to the weather bureau here, who says showers and cool breezes will arrive before night. From then on, it is predicted, it will get cooler.

More than a score of deaths were reported today as a result of the heat of the last two days. Of these three deaths were reported from Milwaukee, two in Kenosha, one each in Oconomowoc, Waukesha, Fond du Lac, Madison and La Crosse. Four died in Chicago. Nine drowned here yesterday. The high temperature in Chicago yesterday was 91. Kansas City and St. Louis recorded the highest temperature of 90. At El Paso and San Antonio, the mercury registered 88 and 92 respectively.

Extra police were at all beaches to handle the crowds standing in line to get out.

Health officials today blamed the heat for continued infantile paralysis gains.

A 20-year-old girl and two babies suffering from the disease, died within the past 24 hours, making a total of 18 deaths since January, as against five in the same period last year. There were 78 cases of the disease at the county hospital today. Two new cases were reported during the night.

Alleges Prisoner Is Murderer of Brother

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 21.—James Goffene, who is on trial before Judge Franklin Griffin for the murder of Blasidio Villard, on April 5, 1905, was identified this morning by Cristino Villard, a brother of the murdered man, as Pedro Torturicel, the alleged murderer. Goffene, who was arrested in Seattle on March 18, on the suspicion that he was Torturicel, has maintained that there was a mistake in identity. The identification today is said to provide an important link in the case of the prosecution.

"I came here since I have been in California I have had the most enthusiastic greetings. The meetings at Oakland and San Francisco showed the greatest enthusiasm. Queening Slab Conceals Coin

Thirteen Is Toll of Texas Storm

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex., Aug. 21.—The loss of life from the tropical storm which struck Corpus Christi and ten adjacent South Texas counties on Friday night was placed at thirteen tonight, including nine members of the crew of the small freighter Pilot Boy, which foundered at the Aransas Pass jetties. Two Mexican women were killed at Katherine, a settlement on the King ranch near Alice, Tex., and one Mexican was reported dead at San Diego. Both towns are from 10 to 15 miles from the coast.

The total damage in this section, of which Corpus Christi bore the heaviest part, was estimated at $2,000,000. This includes devastation of a large portion of the lower coast's cotton crop, which was ready to be picked. Damage at Corpus Christi was estimated conservatively at $500,000.

Luncher Curious, Finds $500 in Cash

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 21.—For ten years an iron slab, protruding from the ground in a vacant lot at Eighteenth and Mission streets, has furnished a bench for Union Iron Works employees as they sat around swapping yarns or eating lunch.

"Children have played about it, and 'spooners' have found it a good seat. Thousands of people have noticed it. Today James Leonard, Harlon Nelson and T. McRey, iron works employees, sat nibbling sandwiches.

"Wonder what this thing is," said Nelson. He went after a shovel and started digging around the piece of iron. Shortly, he found the iron slab. Breaking it open they discovered $500 in money and many bundles of papers, most of them sealed.

The safe is believed to have been buried during the fire. Its owner is being sought.

OPEN FIGHT ON LAWYER FOR $75,000

Client and Four Attorneys in Court Battle to Prove Fraud Against W. C. Crittenden in Power Company Stock Deal

Plaintiff, Formerly Head of Utility Corporation, Asks Court to Force Refund of Large Sum of Money Paid

A long legal battle in which high priced attorneys probably will battle for weeks over legal quibbles and complicated angles in land and stock deals, was started today in Judge Everett J. Brown's department of the Superior Court, when the suit of William F. Boardman, president of the Oregon Gas and Electric Company, against William C. Crittenden, was started. Boardman is suing to recover $75,000 paid Crittenden for the latter's interests in the Oregon company, the money being paid, according to Boardman, as the result of threats of criminal prosecution and undue influence.

Boardman charged that Crittenden used fraud to intimidate him into becoming himself open to criminal action and so worked on his fears that he bought back Crittenden's stock as demanded.

He claims that Crittenden told him that as attorney for the Oregon company, he had examined all its papers and threatened legal actions. He also declared that Crittenden got his office on January 16 of this year, threatened to file suits and have him arrested if he left the place or consulted another attorney, and thus worked upon his fears.

KNEW LITTLE.

I knew little of the bookkeeping affairs of the concern, says Boardman. I was president, but had been in bad health at the time and did not know all the details. I asked for time and to have another attorney to advise me. If you leave this building, Crittenden told me, "I will start the suits."

After the money had been paid, Boardman says, he looked at the books, consulted attorneys and found that there were no grounds for suit against him. He now holds that he has been intimidated into paying the $75,000, and that Boardman's principal fear of criminal action, he says, is that he had a daughter who was suffering from heart failure, and he feared that if criminal action were brought against him the shock of it would have killed her.

The complications arise through the maze of evidence that must be gone through to show that all the deals which Boardman declares Crittenden threatened to find illegalities in were really legal. In other words, the entire legal history of the company must be given a legal bill of health as a basis for the suit.

EIGHT LAWYERS.

In court this morning two batteries of attorneys worked over preliminary details with Boardman on the stand. Representing Crittenden's defense were Stanley Moore, W. A. Nunlist, William S. Parsons and himself. Representing Boardman were Warren Gregory, E. L. Williams, Donald Y. Lunnon and Carl Schaefer.

An element of comedy was injected into the case when Gregory, who was to speak at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon at the organ pavilion at the fair grounds, admission to the exposition will be free, by arrangement between the reception committee and exposition officials. Hughes will leave at 3 o'clock for Los Angeles, where he will speak tonight.

"Well, that would be a form of hearsay evidence," remarked Moore. Authorities are being gone into now to ascertain whether such testimony is admissible as showing the state of mind to which the complainant had been reduced prior to his action to establish any other facts. Such is the custom in will cases, but never before has it been done in any other form of suit.

The company involved is a large one, furnishing electric power to a number of cities in the north. Boardman declares that being forced to pay Crittenden has placed him in a serious financial condition.

German Peace Idea Is Scored

Asquith Makes Reply to Zimmerman

LONDON, Aug. 21.—Germany has shown no disposition toward peace, except on terms dishonorable and humiliating to some of the allies, Premier Asquith informed the House of Commons this afternoon.

The prime minister's statement was made in answer to assertions by Under Secretary Zimmerman of the German foreign office, who told a Hungarian newspaper recently that it was England that was blocking peace.

Zimmerman's statement that England prevented her allies from showing a disposition toward peace until Asquith said. He reminded the German foreign office official that Germany has never submitted official terms of peace.

TWO BRITISH WAR CRAFT TORPEDOED

Light Cruisers Falmouth and Nottingham Sunk in North Sea Engagement; German Submarines Sunk, Rammed

While Experience Is Costly to English, It Forced Retirement to Its Base of Teuton's High Seas Fleet; Object Sought

LONDON, Aug. 21.—Two British light cruisers, the Nottingham of 5400 tons, and the Falmouth, 5250 tons, were sunk by torpedoes in a North Sea engagement Saturday. One German submarine was destroyed and another so seriously rammed that it is believed she has been sent to the bottom.

The engagement, while costly to the British, forced the retirement to their base of the German high seas fleet, for whom the light cruiser squadron was searching when attacked.

Trawlers had verified the presence of fifteen German warships in the region of Whitebank. They were escorted by two Zeppelins. The trawlers brought their news to Ymuiden, Holland.

Berlin reports the sinking of a small cruiser" in its official report of the engagement. Berlin also declares a battleship and a small cruiser were damaged, but the British admiralty denies the latter claim.

ADMIRALTY'S ACCOUNT.

The official British story of the fighting follows:

"Reports from our lookout squadrons and other units showed that there was considerable activity on the part of the enemy in the North Sea Saturday, the 19th."

"The German high seas fleet came out, but learning from their scouts that the British forces were in considerable strength the enemy avoided an engagement and returned to port."

"In searching for the enemy we lost two cruisers by submarine attacks—H. M. S. Nottingham, Captain C. B. Miller, and H. M. S. Falmouth, Captain John Edwards.

"All the officers of the former were saved, but three-eighths of the crew are missing. All the officers and men of the Falmouth were saved, but one leading stoker, Norman Fry, died of injuries."

"An enemy submarine was destroyed and another was rammed and possibly sunk."

"There is no truth in the German statement that a British destroyer was sunk and a British battleship damaged."

ONE U-BOAT IS SUNK.

"The Nottingham was built in Pembroke in 1913. Her complement was 380 men. She was 430 feet long and carried nine 6-inch guns, four three-pounders and two torpedo tubes. She was designed to make about 25 knots an hour."

Co-operation of Bay Cities Is Club Topic

Today was "Hands Across the Bay" day at the San Francisco Advertising Men's Club, when H. C. Capwell of this city was the guest of honor at the club's luncheon, and several speakers were heard on co-operation of the advertising men between the two cities. The affair took place at the Hotel St. Francis.

Capwell spoke on advertising methods and how they affect community sentiments, pleading that the advertising men use their efforts to instill in both cities a desire for co-operation.

The details of the Pacific Coast Ad Clubs' convention, to be held in Oakland next year, were described by W. W. Cribbins. Several San Francisco men spoke.

Efficiency Bureau to Supervise Campaign

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—Managers of the Western Republican national campaign headquarters organized an economic and efficiency bureau to supervise all expenditures and apply modern scientific management principles to the affairs of the office. Seymour Morris, a real estate dealer and business efficiency expert will be in charge of the bureau.

Fred W. Upham, treasurer of the western headquarters said:

"There will be no money wasted in these headquarters during this campaign as a result of the work of this bureau."

National Guardsmen to Get P. O. Jobs Back

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 21.—The Postmaster General has sent an order to postmasters throughout the country, which was received here today, correcting a widespread impression that national guardsmen on the border and employees of the post office are likely to lose their positions. It is pointed out that when they return from duty they will get their old posts back again in the service.

A PHYSICIAN'S FIRST STEP

When you are ill a physician's first step is to give a laxative, not medicine. Trouble may be, because no medicine will take proper effect while waste is in the lower intestine.

If there is no waste there, you probably would not have to be ill at all, because physicians agree that 25 per cent of all human ill is due to the accumulation of waste in the lower intestine.

Physicians now are now following Internal Bath hygienics of the "J. B. L. Cascade," and over 500,000 are already using it to keep their intestine from waste always and with correspondingly better health, strength and efficiency.

Ask about it at the Owl Drug Co., who will give you free an enlightening booklet, "What You Eat Is Only 50 Per Cent Efficient." It will be most interesting to you.—Advertisement.

Russians Kill Own Troops Slay Friend and Foe Alike Soldiers Driven to Sacrifice

VIENNA, Aug. 21.—The Russian offensive against the Austro-Hungarian troops is being conducted, according to Austrian officers returned from the front, with tactics that hardly have a precedent in the history of the wars of the world.

These tactics are, briefly, to annihilate the Austrians by forcing Russian soldiers to advance in their own artillery fire, drawing the Austrians from their bomb and shell-proof shelters into hand-to-hand combat, and then mowing down both Austrians and Russians by a withering fire. Great Russian losses, it is claimed, are due to this method of warfare.

The Russian method of attack in the Bukowina and Wolhynia, the Austrians say, consists of artillery preparation lasting from twenty-four to forty-eight hours. Then come the first Russian infantry troops, in from six to fourteen rows, driven forward by Russian machine guns and by Cossacks armed with the dreaded "Nagashas" or lead-tipped whips.

As they advance the Russian artillery fire abates somewhat, but between it and the Austrian fire from 40 to 50 per cent of the first troops sometimes reach the trenches. Their arrival naturally forces the Austrians to abandon their shelters, and as soon as they do so the Russian drumfire begins again.

In both the Bukowina and the Wolhynia offensives it is estimated that the Russians use up about 2,000 shells every twenty-four hours—shells of Russian, Japanese and American make, and thrown from every caliber of gun, including naval pieces apparently dismounted from warships.

PIONEERS PICNIC; GREET FRIENDS

Echoes of Dutch Flat and '49 Days Make Hearts Glad.

Two hundred old time residents of Dutch Flat and their descendants met in their seventh annual reunion at Mosswood Park Sunday, with picnickers from the bay cities, Modesto, San Jose, and Sacramento present for the yearly occasion of reminiscence.

Yesterday, the former residents of the historic gold mining camp, made famous in the writings of Bret Harte, Mark Twain and Bayard Taylor, talked of old times and old friends. They remembered the town as it was in the early days, with 3000 population, dance halls, gamblers and all the rest, which only the story books, the drama and moving pictures can ever recall.

No formal program was presented. It was just an outdoor reception to each other—neighbors who since have married in Dutch Flat for many years during the heyday of its existence, presented a copy of the Placer Times to Miss Martha Hunske, youngest member of the two hundred to be born in the historic camp. The journal was dated September 11, 1851, one year after the town was founded. Miss Runkle is seventeen years old. Knott was one of the oldest residents of Dutch Flat.

Of the two hundred present, more than two-thirds are now residents of Oakland or other east bay cities. A basket lunch was eaten under the big tree, which is the annual meeting place of the faith-ex-residents. The stories of Taylor, Mark Twain and Bret Harte were reviewed and conversation centered about the sites and characters in the fiction.

Mrs. Turner Files Action for Securities

An aftermath to the sensational suit filed a week ago by Mrs. Miriam Turner, who charged John H. Nicholl, Oakland capitalist, with attempting to kill her in the St. Paul hotel, came in the superior court today when Mrs. Turner filed suit for $18,975, alleged to be due on a purchase of 350 shares of stock in the American Planigraph Company.

It was in connection with this stock that the alleged assault took place.

Nicholl, she declared, paid her $25 down on the stock, purchased two years ago.

In December, 1915, after she had tried to collect for some time, she says, Nicholl called her to his rooms in the St. Paul hotel, promising to pay her $100 on account.

She found him in the room, she says, he attacked her. On the first suit, filed a week ago, was for $50,000, on the ground of personal injuries.

The suit today is for the recovery of the price of the stocks. These were valued, according to her complaint, at $14,000, of which, she says, Nicholl paid $25. He still holds the stock, she declared.

LEAGUE LETTER IS REPUDIATED

Bond Recovery Is City Demand Mill Valley Asks Cash When R. R. Quits

McPike Declares Attack on Smith Lease Is Not Authorized.

Henry C. McPike, member of executive committee of the Taxpayers' League of Alameda county today made the following statement regarding a pamphlet issued by the league. He says:

It is generally understood in Oakland that I have been an active member of the executive committee of the Taxpayers' League of Alameda county for more than a year, and have been in accord with its policy looking toward a reduction of taxes and economic advancement of the city government. I have considered these to be the policies to be fostered and the reason for the existence of the organization.

When the proposition of F. M. Smith and associates with reference to the leasing of land lying back of the western waterfront was presented to the people of Oakland for consideration, I was of the opinion that the proposition was full of merit and ought to be thoroughly understood by the voters. On this account, I wrote to Mr. Smith his co-adjudicators, asking them to have a representative at the meeting of the executive committee of the Taxpayers' League. The invitation was accepted, and the executive committee, after considering the matter, appeared to be favorably disposed to the proposition.

About this time one of the members of the executive committee informed me that a very considerable sum of money had been offered to him by some member violently opposed to the Smith proposition if he would procure the co-operation of the league in opposition. This course savored strongly of "doing politics" in the old-fashioned way and was one of the things the Taxpayers' League was endeavoring to stamp out. Therefore the use of money in that way would be vicious in the extreme and heartily disapproved of by any right-thinking member of the league.

I have not lost sight of the Smith proposition, and in order to further it I sought the individual assistance of some of the members of the executive committee in order to advance the election cause.

While waiting for an answer to my suggestion regarding this service, I was surprised to receive, ostensibly from the Taxpayers' League of Alameda county, a double-column pamphlet, headed "Vote 'NO' on the 99-year lease," and subscribed by the president and secretary by the president and secretary and five or six other citizens.

I have read the pamphlet carefully and on most any other occasion my feelings may have been justified in treating it with silence, but I cannot, because of its sentiments and the fact that they have been for more than a year, a member of the executive committee of the league, suffer to remain in doubt my position in the matter.

I desire it unmistakably understood that I took no hand in, nor in any way sanctioned the action of the executive committee in composing or sending forth this pamphlet. In my opinion it is radically wrong in sentiment, opposed to the business interests of Oakland, and full of innuendos and insinuations, if not expressly misstatements against men of character and standing who are and have been for years identified with the betterment and best interests of the city.

Colored Troopers Clash With Mexicans

NACO, Ariz., Aug. 21.—Over 100 shots were exchanged across the international line about a mile west of here last night between patrols belonging to the colored militia troops from the District of Columbia, and a party on the Mexican side. The militiamen say that they halted some Mexicans who attempted to cross the line, and in answer to their challenge the Mexicans fired. In the fusillade that followed the only casualty was the wounding of one of the Mexicans who had tried to cross. He is now a prisoner in the camp of the colored troops.

PROTEST REMOVAL OF CONSUL SHU

Chinese Six Companies Charge Immigration Service Is Unfair.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 21.—Declaring that the Department of Labor has requested the secretary of state to remove Consul-General S. C. Shu because of his activities in asserting the rights of his countrymen at the immigration station on Angel Island, the Chinese Six Companies today made a direct appeal to President Wilson for intervention. The appeal is to President Wilson for intervention. The appeal is to the outgrowth of a long conflict between the local Chinese and the immigration officials.

Consul-General Shu admitted last night that he had received notice of his transfer to another post, and is now waiting to be relieved of duty here.

"I am gratified at the action of the Six Companies as an evidence of their regard," he said today, "but I knew nothing about their action before it happened. I have made strong complaints about delays in the landing of Chinese, but there have been no personal differences between me and the immigration officials."

In the appeal to President Wilson, the Six Companies say:

"The offense charged against the consul-general is that of having protested against the intolerable delays and exactions of the immigration service in landing merchants and other members of the exempt class. Protests have been futile to secure courteous treatment of prompt landing of merchants, students and even American-born Chinese.

The Chinese merchant princes are heralded in a statement made their wives are held in custody during weeks and often months of investigation, instead of being landed under unquestioned bonds, as humanity demands. Students who seek nothing but an opportunity to learn the English language as a means to advancing the friendliness and trade of the two countries, and even American-born Chinese, are kept at the immigration station for months in their native lands undecided.

Against these abuses Consul-General Shu respectfully directed a protest. The only answer he received is an intimation of his removal. We respectfully declare that the Department of Labor is attempting to destroy the effectiveness of the consul at this port and to intimidate any future consul from asserting the rights of his countrymen.

Attorney John J. McNamara, who prepared the protest of the Six Companies, said that an American-born Chinese has been held at Angel Island for more than a year, and is still there, unless he has been released in the last few days.

"With these conditions prevailing here," he declared, "Chinese trade which should come to this port will go elsewhere. The Panama and Suez canals will get the trade that belongs naturally to this port."

FAVORITE GUNNERS FORCE TONG TRUCE

Some of "Reliable" Highbinders, on 'Rest Cure' in Alaska, Delay Warfare.

More gun men are needed before a successful tong war may be carried on between the Suey Slings and the Bing Kongs, the leaders of the two Chinese societies, who have disagreed with each other because two Chinese slave girls have been stolen in New York City, have decided to wait until the fishing season is over in Alaskan waters, say the police. The war will probably be taken up seriously at that time.

The Bing Kongs, according to the police, are accused of having helped themselves to one of the favorite families of the Suey Slings. The Suey Slings resented and asked for her return. Thereupon the Bing Kongs reminded the Suey Slings that the two girls had been taken by the latter several years ago and never been repaid. This was but part payment, they said.

The Suey Slings couldn't see the matter in just that light, however, and agreed that a few killings shall settle the argument. When told was taken of highbinders, however, it was found that some of the most active were with the Alaskan fishing fleet, so a truce was decided upon.

PEACE ADVOCATE JAILED, IS RUMOR

Berlin Reports Norman Angell Opposed British War Court.

BERLIN, Aug. 21.—The Overseas News Agency says an Italian newspaper has published a report that the English writer, Norman Angell, has been sentenced to eighteen months at hard labor, after having been under arrest for several months, because he declined to take part in the war. This report says that Angell's plea that he had objections to war service, was overruled by an English war court.

This unconfirmed report from Berlin is the first intimation that Angell has been involved in any such difficulties. Angell is the author of a number of works on war and diplomacy. He spent his youth in the United States and was in this country for several weeks last winter. He is best known for his advocacy of international peace. He was a winner of the Nobel peace prize.

Who Swatted John Reardon? Lights Out; Biff! Bang! Headaches

The police of the Melrose station have a mystery which rivals that age-old query, "Who hit Billy Patterson?" It is:

"Who hit John Reardon?"

They are much more interested in the identity of the person who took liberties with Reardon's head than they are with the never-solved query regarding one Patterson. Reardon, who lives at 2945 Elmhurst avenue, was reading his Sunday paper. A neighbor did it, he says, a woman. I was seated by an open window, doing nothing to nobody, just reading my paper. All of a sudden the light went out and I couldn't read. When the lights went on again I found out that some one had reached through the window with a club and tapped me on the head. It wasn't any joke.

Reardon told the police of his suspicions, but this is being kept a secret by the sleuths.

Don't Vote in the Dark

"The only thing I am afraid of in this country is the dark. Get the facts."

(Charles Evans Hughes at Oakland, August 19, 1916.)

Turn on the Light Before You Vote on the Charter Amendment

Oakland is asked to vote tomorrow on a charter amendment authorizing the City Council to make a 99 YEAR lease of its western waterfront tideland.

Where are the lessees?

IN THE DARK.

Where are the terms of the lease?

IN THE DARK.

In your private business you don't DECIDE IN THE DARK. In your public business DON'T VOTE IN THE DARK TOMORROW. Demand the facts before you amend the charter.

Representations have been made by the promoters about what will be done by the lessees. Who guarantees the pictures they have drawn? What stands behind them? THE DARK.

Who makes the lease? The City Council. You won't get another chance to vote on this matter. A vote for the amendment is a vote to give five men the power to make a 99 YEAR lease of the city's property.

How long will the lease be made for? 99 YEARS. Beware of hints and suggestions that the amendment does not mean a 99 YEAR lease. The whole purpose of the Amendment is a 99 YEAR lease. The City Council will accept a vote for the amendment as a vote for a 99 YEAR lease.

How long is 99 YEARS? Ninety-nine years ago there was no Oakland; California was a Mexican colony. There were no steamships, no railroads, no street cars, no telephone, no telegraph.

Oakland cannot safely make a contract now that can't be changed for the next 99 YEARS.

A vote for the amendment is a vote for discord and litigation, which may lose Oakland all its tidelands.

Oakland will not receive $5,000,000 under the amendment. It will receive only $1,500,000. The remaining $3,500,000 will be spent by and for the lessees. On land now valued at nearly $3,000,000 Oakland will receive a return of less than 1 1/2 per cent. The land and the improvements upon it will be exempt from taxation. The dock tolls and wharfage will no more than pay the cost of operating and maintaining the wharves.

Hundreds of Oakland's citizens have repeatedly urged the real backers of this amendment to come forward. They remain IN THE DARK.

Hundreds of Oakland's citizens have repeatedly urged that the full terms of the proposed lease be fixed before the people vote. This was done in the city of Alameda. These terms remain IN THE DARK.

Vote NO Tomorrow

This and similar advertisements are paid for by a number of Oakland citizens, no one of whom has contributed more than $20 for the purpose. These citizens have worked and will work for the speedy development of Oakland's waterfront. They believe the pending charter amendment will bring only trouble and disaster to Oakland, and therefore vigorously oppose it.

WARTRAINING IS ADVOCATED BY WHEELER

University of California Head Lauds Present Military Plan in Vogue in Speech Before Vast College Assemblage

Don't Display Your Raiment or Show Off in Motor Car or Keep Canines. Freshmen Are Advised by U. C. President

BERKELEY, Aug. 21.—In lauding the military system in vogue at the university, President Benjamin Ide Wheeler this morning declared himself for compulsory military training after the Swiss plan. He said:

I have for many years believed that some method of educating young men of the country along military lines should be devised for the United States. I believe that the method used in Switzerland whereby every man gives a portion of his years to keeping fit to serve his country if necessary would work out to the advantage of everyone.

We are turning out officers here who can give their country good service if needed and I feel that the side of the university life is paramount.

INITIAL MEETING.

Today's meeting was the first university meeting of the year and was held in the Greek Theater, as the usual meeting place, Harmon Gymnasium, would not hold a third of the men and women who congregated. The largest freshman class in the history of the university heard considerably about what a college man or woman should be from President Wheeler. He indicated that he might follow the path blazed by President Wilbur of Stanford and tell the fathers of prospective students that automobile owning students were not wanted. He said:

If it may be necessary for us to bar automobiles from the university grounds. If we do not I am afraid some of you will find your legs dropping off seriously. I realize that you must leave your autos at home and be like other people—like the faculty. Not all of us can be rich, but if you must have an auto to get here from Bancroft Way, please tie it securely when you get inside the grounds.

ADVICE TO FRESHMEN.

To the new students I want to say that you are here to study, no matter what you may have thought, from seeing other students. You are not here to display your talents or show off in an auto or to keep warm. We are all common people here, although the fraternity rushing would make it seem that we are a household of snobs. I am afraid that someone's feelings are likely to be hurt because they have not been chosen by some Greek letter society, but that should not be because the scholars have high ideals and always the fraternities have made mistakes. Some of the secret societies are generally at the bottom.

Message From "Dead" Received U. C. Mystery Is Partially Solved Missing Student Sends Word

BERKELEY, Aug. 21.—The mystery which shrouded the disappearance of Herbert Joseph Walbridge Hyatt, freshman student at the University of California, has been partially solved, although the young man is said to have communicated with his sister, Miss Marie Hyatt, in Los Angeles.

Hyatt's youth is related to Berkeley, H. H. Northrop, commissioner of immigration, and Mrs. F. L. Weldon of 2325 Fulton street, knew nothing of the circumstances attending the disappearance of the young man.

According to the information received, the brother of the young man is in North Dakota.

Another aunt, Mrs. George E. Oxley of 2105 Fulton street, in communication with the sister in Los Angeles and an endeavor will be made to get an explanation from Hyatt of his strange disappearance.

A nation wide search was made for Hyatt, who left his lodgings in Bancroft way leaving his belongings in their accustomed places and taking neither a change of clothing nor other articles.

With the filling of a protest containing 536 signatures seeking to prevent a tax levy to raise $10,500 for improvements to the Hayward district grammar school, the bitter factional fight that has been waging in Hayward for many months was taken before the board of supervisors today. A delegation was present but took up the position with arguments, but the absence of a quorum of the board necessitated postponement of a meeting until tomorrow.

Charges that the board of directors of the grammar school district have been dominated by Principal E. N. Mabrey to the extent that "unreasonable" salaries are being paid him and some of his assistants are contained in the protest which heads the signatures.

It is recited that the voters of the district recently turned down a bond proposition of $20,000, intimating that the retention of Principal Mabrey by the board was the primary cause for the heavy vote against the proposition. It is asked that the supervisors take no action on the request of the board for the tax levy, letting the matter go undetermined until such time as the people may be able to elect a more satisfactory board.

REASONS SET FORTH. Four reasons are given by the protestants in urging the supervisors to accept the proposal made by the school directors. The first reason recited that first, the old high school had been offered to the directors at a rental of $30 a year, but that they have refused to take advantage of the offer, which would relieve the present crowded conditions in the grammar school.

Secondly, it is related that "the income earned by the school is not handled with ordinary economy." The present apparent shortage for paying extra expenses is due to extravagant management and the fact that the present teachers and principal are receiving the highest salaries paid in this state.

Third, it is claimed that the kindergarten building is unnecessary as the old high school building would accommodate one thousand children.

Fourth, the protest said forth:

The majority of the board are acting under the directions of E. N. Mabrey in such a manner as to perpetuate the ten years' control he has had on school affairs in Hayward, whereby he has increased his own salary and that of some of his assistant teachers considerably. The actions of the board are not representative of the people and they represent the fact that their servants who by retaining the said Mabrey in his position, by refusing to use the old high school property and by their extravagance, are acting directly contrary to the popular wish, now are endeavoring to tax them and arbitrarily expend their money.

A proposal bond issue to cover the same expenditure in a slightly more expensive way was defeated May 27, 1916, at a special bond election by a vote of $49 to 155.

We therefore respectfully request that your honorable board deny the request of the majority members of the school board for a special tax and that the same be levied until the people may be able to elect a more satisfactory board.

that we must keep our house in order, but we must prepare to meet the gigantic business struggle into which this country will inject itself as an active competitor after the European war is over."

The President said he was trying to keep his mind free from passion now, "but there is an ever-recurring picture in my mind these days," he added, "of hundreds and millions of people who would suffer as a result of a strike catastrophe—a picture of mothers—the picture of little ones, dying, perhaps, because they could not get food."

He urged the railroad chiefs—"for we are trustees in this matter, each of us"—to co-operate with him in maintaining business and national order at this time.

"I am willing to allow the case to go to a great American jury and let them assess the responsibility," said the President to the rallyway presidents.

"I wish you to consider the consequences of a failure to agree as they may affect the people of the great cities and the countryside. The country cannot live if the means of keeping alive its vitality are interfered with."

According to meager reports reaching here today the smaller troops commanded by Colonel Carlos Carranza, nephew of the first chief, had been pursuing the bandits west along the line of the Mexico Northwestern railway. The outlaws reached a secluded canyon and, choosing their positions, gave battle. They completely routed the Carranza command, who fell back toward Chihuahua City.

EL PASO, Tex., Aug. 21.—A force of fifty Villa rebels engaged and defeated a larger command of government troops in the vicinity of old Santa Ysabel, Chihuahua, last Friday, according to private dispatches here today. The de facto command approximated 100 men and lost twenty, while the outlaws, under J. Dominguez, lost but twelve.

INVESTIGATE CANAL ZONE CONCESSION

Activities of Spaniard Who Sought 60,000 Acres of Land On Atlantic Seaboard of Panama Cause of Anxiety

Fear That Japanese Plan Renewing Effort to Obtain Coaling Station Results in Lansing Demanding Probe

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—Investigation of reports from Panama that a 60,000-acre land concession on the Atlantic end of the canal is being sought by a Spaniard named Fernandez, presumably for Japanese interests, was ordered today by Secretary Lansing.

Rumors of a similar nature have been common since the canal was well under way, but it was not until several months ago that they reached a well defined outline.

WANTED COALING STATION

It was at that time commonly believed in diplomatic circles that private Japanese shipping interests were seeking land through Spanish intermediaries to establish a base for storing coal at lower rates than could be had from the American government monopoly base.

So far as is known, nothing definite came of that plan. The present reports are that Fernandez, Havana agent for Japanese interests, secured a 60,000-acre land concession through the activity of Ramon Valdes.

FRAUDS ARE ALLEGED

The recent election of Valdes to the presidency of Panama may possibly be disputed by the United States, because of alleged frauds and coercion.

Admiral Conchas, of the Spanish navy, selected by the Panama government as umpire to settle the disputes with the United States over the purchase price of canal property, is alleged to have given valuable information about the canal itself.

Rabbi Coffee to Urge Social Uplift

Rabbi Rudolph I. Coffee of Chicago, who is at present in charge of the social service department of the independent Order B'nai B'rith, will speak to-morrow evening at Covenant Hall, Twenty-eighth and Webster streets, "Israel's Service to America." Dr. Coffee's talk will be under the auspices of Oakland Lodge, I. O. B. R.

It is only recently that Rabbi Coffee has taken up his ecclesiastical position. He was formerly in a large Pittsburgh pulpit where his interest in problems outside the church made it possible for him to seek a yet larger field for his endeavors. His talk tomorrow evening will dwell on Jewish life and work in America. Coffee was born and received his early education in Oakland.

REPUBLICAN RALLY.

A meeting of the Thirty-sixth District Republican Women's Club will be held at the Fairlawn Hotel, 2400 Fruitvale avenue, Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Mrs. Ida Finey Macrillie, who returned not long ago from the Denver women's convention, will speak. She will tell of her experiences in the convention. Other addresses are scheduled.

EVERMANN RE-ELECTED.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 21.—Dr. Burton W. Evermann, director of the museum of the California Academy of Sciences, was re-elected president of the Western Society of Naturalists at the San Diego meeting held August 9 to 12, in conjunction with the Pacific division of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Age No Obstacle In Meeting Hughes

Elderly Man Struggles to Greet Jurist

Edward C. Hastings, of Alameda, is an old man, but age has nothing to do with shaking hands with the Republican candidate for the presidency, if you have seen the scene. Hastings did it. He had to climb up to the stage from the floor of the auditorium, narrowly missed falling, and only succeeded in his climb when several bystanders helped him up.

The old man, who is hard of hearing, had found a seat near the front of the stage, waiting more than an hour for the appearance of Governor Hughes. The speech over, he struggled through the crowd to the stage, and attempted to climb up. As he slipped, willing hands seized him, and younger men "boosted" him to the stage.

Several minor accidents were reported in the rush to greet the presidential candidate. A woman fainted in the crowd. She was taken care of, and recovered before her name could be learned. Charles G. Ashe, of Berkeley, fell while climbing to the platform. He sustained bruises, but nothing serious.

Bohemian Play to Be Given for Public

The annual concert of the "midsummer music of Bohemia" will take place at the Cort theater Thursday afternoon at 2:45, when one of the features will be the first presentation of the principal numbers from "Gold," the Bohemian Grove play. Dr. Stewart, whose "Bluff King Hall" and "Hans Heinz" are well remembered, will come up from San Diego, where he is official organist at the exposition to conduct selections from Herman Perlet's "Fall of Ug," Udo Waldrup's "Nec-Natama" and Edward F. Schneider's "Apollo" will also be played by the orchestra of eighty and the vocal portion of the entertainment will be supplied by Charles F. Buletti, the Bohemian Club double quartet and forty other singers of the organization. These concerts always attract a great deal of attention, and that of next Thursday promises to be very successful from every standpoint. Seats will be ready at the Cort theater next Monday morning.

Heater Explodes; Damages Apartment

An explosion from a water heater in the basement of the Castle Apartments, 4154 Piedmont avenue, startled the neighborhood in the vicinity of Forty-first street and Piedmont avenue this morning and resulted in a hurried alarm for the fire department. No blaze resulted, but the concussion caused a damage of several hundred dollars to the building and heating apparatus.

The explosion occurred shortly after 7 o'clock. It damaged the heater, broke the light ventilators in front of the confection shop and stationery store at 4155 Piedmont avenue and shook the entire neighborhood. Mrs. Josephine Baldwin, residing in the apartment house, manager of the place.

A leak on one of the tubes of the heater is suspected to have been the cause of the explosion, although the exact origin has not been ascertained. Repairs were to have been made today on the apparatus.

Court Decision Saves Western Pacific $14,000

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 21.—By holding a corporation in the hands of a receiver is not subject to federal income tax, the court has decided. On Friday saved $14,000 to the treasury of the Western Pacific Railroad. This sum represents the tax on $1,400,000 earned during the receivership and payable at once. The decision of the court is based on an opinion rendered in a like case by the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New York.

Rambles through the Shops

BREATHLESSLY—In the sheerest of mulls—and under the restful shade of enormous hats—while the sun beats down amably, the daughters of Eve are waiting to see what fascinations the winter will bring to add to their bright charms.

What, after all, would the manufacturers have done had not the first siren in the garden of Eden robbed the apple tree?

Simply starved. As a matter of fact she was simply making a sacrifice in order to keep up trade, but she has never received proper credit. But that is beside the question. At present her fair descendants are obliged to ponder rather longer than usual as to what is coming from the mysterious land of the fashion arbiters—and they have not the time they should have for developing imperial intellects.

Little by little, however, new and seductive trifles have drifted into the shop windows to be exchanged for the miserable cash earned by man in order to preserve the purely feminine in the world. California women have the vote, but fluffy ruffles increase in popularity.

Here are a few such advertised previously in The TRIBUNE:

No man—crippled or ancient, unimaginative or miserly—could—at least—resist the temptation of the seasonal trifles, scattered with shimmering iridescents, that are the latest offering for the unveiled shoulders of beauties at glamorous dances. No soul in the least feminine could resist being thrilled on being presented with one, even though she already had all the perfumes of Arabia and the jewels of Semiramis.

Those shown at Taft's are principally of black and of white silk net, with narrow borders of spangles or iridescents and deeply decorated ends to sparkle in the bright lights.

Or these, perhaps the black are the most stunning, though they are appropriate to a very type as the lighter ones. On one dazzling affair of black great roses of black sequin, outlined with iridescent peacock blue beads filled the ends; another's black surface bore an interesting motif of a conventional kind, developed in peacock blue and purple iridescents.

Others were spangled in small designs throughout their length.

Some of the lighter ones were spangled with the shell-like sequins, but certain very novel ones—charming for young girls, especially—were embroidered in silver hoily leaves, with tassel threads bordering the edges. These shining things are all thrilling for the evening, but those of Spanish lace also are always desirable and need not be confined to the electric lighted houses.

A plum-colored broadcloth suit that had just come into Cosgrave's illustrates the use of black seal by a collar—chin-chin in type—of this fur, that ran down the front of the semi-empire, semi-belted coat and crossed the broad belt. A band of this seal also bordered the full soft skirt of the coat and banded the cuffs in a soft mask. But the most striking part of the ensemble was the double row of fat round black buttons attached to thread-like braid loops that dotted either side of the front band; the similar, smaller buttons that marked the opening of the two pockets running vertically in the peplum and the lining of gray satin gaily sprinkled with printed violets.

Neither does it scatter powder everywhere, nor does it come open on the slightest suggestion. Beside this trifling item, this fascinating new Russian bath salts in cubes wrapped in striking yellow paper and packed enticingly in a box to perfume a dozen luxurious tubs.

In a striking black and white striped box there comes a new dry shampoo, supposed to be rubbed into the scalp instead of brushed out and also supposed to stimulate the locks of a fair shopper into growing strong or otherwise. It should also be known that there is a new "chouchou," for those who like the colors of Africa. But the most delightful new smelling salts bottles with dry salts of pastel colors and topped with colored enamel.

Neither can they spill nor does the top threaten constantly to stick fast forever. For those enamored of salts they are most acceptable and inexpensive gifts.

Interesting use of worsted embroidery was made on a graceful afternoon gown of navy blue Georgette crepe and soft satin at the Eastern Outfitting Company. In a scooped-out square a border of mustard worsted decorated the back and front of the blouse, rather like an immense collar. The corners of this border end in mosaic-like designs of peacock and tulip with touches of red and through the tulip a pink bird.

This same narrow mustard border ran along the crepe side sections of the skirt that hung about a third of the way down below the belt, to fall over a second deep tuck of satin.

Even the top-coats shown by Moneyback Smith for men who might otherwise shirk in the suns of autumn have the pinch-backs that make even an octogenarian have the air of rakish youth.

These affairs come to the knee and are pleated fully six inches below the belt in the back, while the usual patch pockets adorn the fronts. Inside there is a quarter lining of satin and also there are many seams piped with this same fabric. Either plain and most modest hues are to be had or the tweed mixtures that wins the devotion of many souls.

Deserting Twenty-fifth street, where she was formerly established, Mrs. J. D. Ernst is now showing chapeaux in a smart little shop at number 1303 Washington street, where she is busily engaged in making hats to order to suit different figures.

This happens to be the era of large picture-like effects, but there is always a demand for the chic little hat, so the season has produced, among such, amusing bonnets that recall Becky Sharpe fitting from Waterloo—except that the plume is not in front at present.

One of these picture affairs at the new shop had the upper rim surrounding the soft black velvet crown of a bright mustard-green—an excellent color this fall—and strapping it on beneath the chin is a narrow black velvet ribbon. A nosegay of tiny French flowers on the brim completes the only decoration. Another similar bonnet of black was relieved by a soft full crown of lace, formed of narrow silk ribbon, and by a pink ribbon band for the chin strap. It, too, permitted only a suggestion of a bouquet to ornament its brim.

These chin ribbons and quaint bonnets are quite ribbons and feminine bonnets visible. Perhaps they are intended to give an air of the demure to a damsel with skirts exposing several inches of silk hose, and a costume sheer as it can be and still hold together.

Most of the new coats in now are either of wool velour or of seal plush or of a fur fabric.

One at Marymont & Upright's illustrated the tendency to decorate these velvet plush black coats with lighter plush by the square over-color, the great bell cuffs and a wide belt of light plush. This flaring coat is a wrap set straight from the shoulders under an enormous round under-collar of black. Another, evolved from a pressed "baby lamb" fabric, and cut on similar lines, varied from type by means of a gathered deep sailor collar that was held in a few inches below the neck by a strip of brown fur.

ENTRY BLANKS OUT FOR TRIBUNE TOUR

Tioga Pass Run Will Be the World's Most Famous Auto Run.

By EDMUND CRINNION.

Entry blanks for the third annual TRIBUNE tour were off the press this morning and are now ready for the signature of those desiring to take part in the coming event.

The third annual TRIBUNE tour will be held on September 2, 3, 4 and 5. It will embrace a run of exactly 655 miles from Oakland to Lake Tahoe, twice crossing the Sierras, via the Golden Gate, Yosemite and the medium of the famed Tioga Pass.

The details of the run are now being worked out and from every indication this tour will go down in the history of coast motoring events with the side notation of "Not a single detail overlooked."

We are to have an open air luncheon at Auburn. The management of the Freehand hotel has advised the tour officials that the luncheon will be held in the main dining room on the noon of Saturday, the 2d of September, when the caravan will travel from Oakland to Lake Tahoe via the one direct route available.

It is expected that the tourists will reach Auburn about 11 a. m., and by having an open-air luncheon ready for them we expect to get a good start on the six-hour run between Auburn and the Tahoe Tavern.

At the Tahoe Tavern, the tour will remain until afternoon of the following day in order to rest up thoroughly from the day's driving and the strenuous one. After noon, the entire party will proceed over the new Emerald Bay road to Nevada and thence through Hope Valley to Woodfordsville, Alpine County, to Minden and Gardnerville, Nevada, where the second night's stop will be made. Here arrangements have been made by Clarence Darrow of Minden, Nevada, for a dance for the party.

Leaving the Nevada town early the following morning the party will proceed to the famous Donner pass, Bridgeport, to Mono lake and over the famous Leevining grade over the Tioga Pass—the most scenic road in the world. Here the drivers will make the summit at an elevation of 9,941 feet.

On this famous Tioga Pass road the tour will officially start at Lake Tahoe, where the riders will travel over the perfect score certificates will be given to the cars in perfect mechanical condition.

The following day those destined to return to the city will travel via the Big Oak Flat road. Many, however, will avail themselves of the close proximity to the Yosemite Valley and visit there on their return to the Nevada. Some will take advantage of the splendid fishing in the different lakes on the Tioga.

GIRL MOTORCYCLISTS CLIMB PIKE'S PEAK.

The summit of Pike's peak looming up 14,108 feet in the famous Rampart range, has stopped all automobile traffic on the object, especially in the eyes of motorists.

The top of the mountain may be reached by cog railway or by the old-fashioned method of going up, but motor-driven vehicles have accomplished the task.

Of those few who have successfully accomplished this seems impossible, for only once has a woman attained the crest of the mountain. This occurred on August 5, when the Misses Van Buren of New York, the first ladies of the nation, rode the famous Firestone equipped to the top.

These girls are making a transcontinental tour from New York to San Francisco, and their purpose of climbing Pike's peak was simply an incidental feature added to the list of their many daring accomplishments. Thus far in their journey they have encountered difficulties with their tires which are still inflated with New York air.

LINCOLN HIGHWAY LUNCHEON.

Tomorrow, August 29, at 12:30 o'clock, in the Ostermann, field secretary of the Lincoln Highway Association will address the Oakland chamber of commerce on the Lincoln highway in the city room of the Hotel Oakland. This will be Lincoln highway day in Oakland.

Distinguished a second coat of this lamb-fabric. On this coat a border of the rabbit ran about the bottom of the border and there were fur cuffs to match. Quite different was a coat of soft bright green velour cloth, trimmed with a manufactured brown beaver—for it was cut in empire fashion, with a high, box-like waist that is to be popular this season.

Much of the new furniture demands either plain velvet carpet, or a Chinese rug to conform with its lacquered legs or its hand-decorated black enameled surface—or its other decorative articles.

At Jackson's may be had many copies—in different sizes—of these rugs from the Orient, printed in the soft blues, the tan and the white that are principally found in these interesting floral coverings from across the sea. They may scarcely be distinguished from the originals in the art of reproduction—except by a connoisseur—and the effect is exceedingly charming, especially when the mistress of the house has alluring blue eyes.

Nor need anyone be disturbed at not having a genuine Chinese rug, for real Chinese rugs from the heart of China can't be found any more by the most advanced buyer.

Join me after foreign treasures. All a certain Pacific Coast expert could find there on a recent trip were half a dozen little ones. Originals, almost are not on the market.

Black imported crepe with great rosebuds printed over its sheer surface combined with a wide seal plush, black in color, of fine quality.

Another interesting article was the odd use of the fur for the front half of the belt, which in back was composed of bands of black satin.

The bands of soft moleskin completed this ensemble of grays and black and white with cuffs and a silk ribbon across the back of the collar.

Another interesting article was the little bungalow where the bride is supposed to be living on bread and cheese and novel emotions.

For in front of the fireplace there are runners of soft colors to match larger squares woven of soft plush, and for the piano where foot regals, there are three little squares of lace decorated with tile motives and bordered all around like woolen and velvet rugs.

Many of these are in delicate colors, while others, in browns and pinks, have more of a Persian effect. For a very coquetish kitchen, or in an old-fashioned sleeping room, there are the most amusing of these rugs, oval, square, or flat, with broidered collars in pink or green or blue. These are quite stiff and properly delicate as primroses or certain other garden flowers.

Even the new cretonnes show the popularity of the quilted, as, for instance, a large tapestry-like pattern where blue birds sit joyously through lattices covered with roses against a white ground.

Our pianos are the creations of factories whose works have proven their quality. They are standard in manufacture, in quality and in durability and each carries an honest and comprehensive guarantee.

Here you may buy economically, safely and satisfactorily and your instrument will always prove the wisdom of your choice. Terms and prices are just right.

RARE ART OF ORIENT SENT TO MUSEUM

Magnificent Display Containing Chinese Textile, Silks Heavy With Gold Thread and Varied Work Placed on Display

Intricate Pieces Brought Across the Seas, Find Place Here in Hearts of Lovers of Oriental Treasures and Antiquities

During the past week some rare Oriental material has been brought forth from store rooms and placed on display in the Oakland Museum. Only a small collection could be accommodated, and the rest was scattered about. There are some porcelains and celadons from China, brought over from the Exposition, pieces of intricate carving in jade, in which the Chinese excel. And when it is considered that jade is a mineral hard as steel and tougher, it is appreciated what the work of the carver is. There are some pieces of brass and copper of the East Indies, with elaborately chased design, beautiful and significant lacquer ware from Hindostan and Burmah; and from Tibet, the land of mystery, there are some paintings made by the devotees of the highest religious brotherhoods, each one the product of years of careful work performed under the severest regulations as to personal conduct and spiritual intent.

ORIENTAL TEXTILES.

Then, of course, there are examples of the Orient's textile silks, with gold thread and laborious embroidery or used as the canvas for the most delicate paintings. Sandalwood and carved ivories and chased silver are included, and a few ornaments of unusual form and material, as for example amber buttons and ear ornaments inset with bits from the plume of a kingfisher in the most bizarre and colorful decoration is peculiar to the orient, which in some countries these particular plumes are valued as highly as jewels. Then there is a hall guard of chased silver from China, worn by those of high caste to protect the long fingernails, which are the insignia of rank.

RICH RED PAINT.

One jar of rich red paint is often taken to be rouge, but is really the paint used for stamping with state seals. It is made of metals, rubies and pearls ground together and is a rare and costly enough to grace even an emperor's edict. And were it really rouge, the oriental beauty would find rich complexions are expensive.

To the dweller on the Pacific Coast the sight of oriental handwork is common enough, and from its very nature often it is overlooked upon with contempt. But a great mass of it commonly seen does not represent the true value, but is only "made to sell," like the wares of the razor sellers of our childhood school readers. And the person who has learned this fact is the first to appreciate the generally worthless article. Many such were delighted with the view of this material at the Museum Sunday, when it was open to inspection for the first time.

OPHEUM OFFERING SNAPPY COMEDY

"Petticoats" and "Putting It Over" Afford Audience Many Laughs.

By no means should Chester Spencer and Lola Williams hide behind "Petite" and "The Captain" when neither should they appear too far in front of the playlet with the lingerer title. Indeed, both may take headline honors and be real friendly terms with them. Spicy and saucy, they have an act they call "Putting It Over." They suit the action to the act. Right over the home-pipe of popular opinion does it go, and sure enough, the audience loves it. The written act and their method of getting it across to the audience is something well worth while watching. Spencer's exterior looks pleasant yet he helped out considerably, while Williams, the lady of the act, is a skilled "feeder."

PERSONAL VICTORY.

The playlet, "Petticoats," is froth, with wit and a forced, with Grace. Number Nile scores a personal victory when the applause starts, with Paul Stanton, a manly heading man for a change, right close by when we pass out. The curtain goes up.

It's all about a bet which Betty Hastings makes with two of her very feminine girls friends.—She wagers that she'll make the town's very popular doctor propose to her in fifteen minutes after she's arrived in the place. What happens after the bet is made—well, is quite worth watching.

LUCILLE WALTERS SCORES.

Lucille Walters scored a hit in the role of Sue from "Sixx City," the road in the hard-luck Howell household. She has a good, dry manner without being tough, and all the earmarks of the "good girl" type, which is a really well-done piece of work. Others who scored were George B. Howard, Stanley de Wolf, Mina Gleason, George W. P. Hunt, Anna Wayson, Leo Zarral and Company are entertainers of merit just as they admit it on the program. They are three very well-known athletes, with an easy manner in which they move, and a good way to pose, being tossed from pillar to post and back again, but he seems to enjoy it immensely. This trio does some things we have not seen before, which is quite a comment in these days of boredom.

Sylvia Loyal and her Pierrot is a juggling, pantomime, hair-throwing act with a surprise ending. The surprise consists of a flock of pigeons which fly through the air to stand on their mistress' back. Truly an original feature in a very original act. Paramount moving pictures fill in the bill's gaps successfully.

BANKER SELIGMAN Dies in Long Branch

LONG BRANCH, N. J., Aug. 21.—James Seligman, retired member of the firm of J. and W. Seligman and Company, New York bankers, died at his summer home here today at the age of 92 years. He was the oldest member of the New York Stock Exchange, having joined the institution in 1869.

There are three daughters, twelve grandchildren, and three great-grandchildren survive him. One of his daughters is Mrs. Benjamin Guggenheim.

Carter's Cast In Clean Comedy Izzy's Mix-Up Draws to Macdonough

The last week of the Monte Carter musical comedy season at the Macdonough opened last night with many laughs when "Izzy's Mix-Up" was the attraction of the evening. Replete with comic situations, crammed with interesting musical bits and produced in lavish scale, the offering was one of the brightest of the musical comedy seasons.

Monte Carter, who delights us with a widow who delights him to administer poisoned soup to her husband. (That's the plot.) The musical part of the program has nothing to do with the soup, however. It is entirely in the hands of the orchestra leader, the dancing chicks and Mindell Kingston, prima donna of the company. Miss Kingston is heard in two songs, "Gypsy Land" and "American, Hear You Calling Me."

Walter Spencer scored heavily with a Hawaiian number, accompanying himself on the steel guitar. George Ebbner renders "Husking Bee" with a few more imitations and Carter is seen in several of his specialties.

"The Jelly Roll" is sung by Alma Astor, assisted by the chorus. The play is gorgeously costumed and several novel electrical effects aid in making it a remarkable bit of stagecraft. The play will run until Saturday night, when the Monte Carter season closes.

FRANKLIN

"The Marriage of Molly-O," the feature at the Franklin is a fine production of the motion picture producers' art.

Marsh and Bobby Harron play the leading parts in this and they play them very well, though, and all the earmarks of the really well-done piece of work. Others who scored were George B. Howard, Stanley de Wolf, Mina Gleason, George W. P. Hunt, Anna Wayson, Leo Zarral and Company are entertainers of merit just as they admit it on the program. They are three very well-known athletes, with an easy manner in which they move, and a good way to pose, being tossed from pillar to post and back again, but he seems to enjoy it immensely. This trio does some things we have not seen before, which is quite a comment in these days of boredom.

There is also a comedy of the famous glib-tongued, hair-throwing act with a surprise ending. The surprise consists of a flock of pigeons which fly through the air to stand on their mistress' back. "DIFFERENT" ACT HIT AT PANTAGES

Lot of "Good Ones" on Bill This Week; Dale and Archer Lead.

They've got a lot of good ones at Pantages this week! Among those present are Billy Dale and Lou Archer, who have for their reason d'être French talkie. Happily, "Pantages," who should we worry where it is supposed to happen as long as this gay old father takes—or rather refuses to take advice from his son, who is a most excellent man of wine, women song and other things!

It is so seldom these days that we see acts which are not made up of college boys and magazine girls, snub for snub's sake and a lack of humor in south. This is one of those acts we so seldom see. Dale and Archer get a lot of fun out of a semi-intoxicated parent who is a one-man band and a son who loves the lightights. Their manner is irresistible, just as their act is excellently fitted together.

A BEAUTIFUL ACT.

Second place should and does go to the one with all the trained tropic birds. It is known as the "Birds Beautiful," and is just that. The colorings on some of those cockatoos or parrots or whatever they are make some of us envious. And they are well trained, too, and polite actors and they do their tricks with the ease of human beings. The Act Beautiful.

McCloud Corp., who plunk the banjo and howl the violin are whirlwinds in their own right. They have the art of fast-moving fingers and quick-vibrating bows down to the finest of fine points. Both of them are now very popular, and they could play fine music if they wanted to, but they didn't confine themselves to that sort of melody all together; no, instead some of the time they played in rags, which is always welcome news, isn't it?

WOMAN VENTRILLOQUIST.

Grace DeWinter is one of the few women ventriloquists we have ever seen or heard. After seeing her we don't miss the men ventriloquists any more. Truly, she is excellent. The manner in which she uses her voice is low for high voice and back again is pronounced for low, and that she knows her business. Her imitations, through the dummy, of Harry Lauder, Irene Franklin and others show us indeed of a great vocal gift.

What "The Earl and the Girls" is all about is something more than you or your mother much care to find out, but the avowed purpose of just jangling the strings in one's melody-loving, joke-loving person. Two comedians, two leading women and a good featured chorus compose an act well worth the price.

A soldly act, known as "The Outpost," gives us an insight into the life of Uncle Sam's soldiers. Members of the regular army, the marines, the navy and the coast guard, all in uniform, give a patriotic, it is a sham battle to win the war, and more than well applauded. The "Secret of the Submarine" still holds the briny deep's attention.

IDORA PARK

The Chorus Girl's Revue which was given on the banks of the inland beach yesterday proved a most entrancing and delightful entertainment. The "Splash Me" portion which was given in the deep water attracted attention by its novelty and spontaneous effects.

On Labor day and the Sunday preceding it, the first annual bathing girl pageant in Northern California was held in Idora park with an automobile procession starting from First and Broadway. As at the park labor organizations are to picnic at the park and the pageant will be held on Labor day and the Sunday preceding it.

Gus De Bretville to Work New Mine

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 21.—Gustav de Bretville, whose recent discovery of the missing Blue Lead channel on the Merker mining claims in Sierra county aroused widespread interest in mining circles, announces that he will make his first "clean-up" early next month. The prospector has given an impetus to mining in Sierra county and several mines are being reopened.

Ten-Cent Bread in Sacramento, Decision

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 21.—The master bakers of Sacramento at an executive conference held here, has decided that the 5-cent loaf of bread should be eliminated in this city. Hereafter the members of the association will bake only 10-cent loaves.

This change was due to the steadily increasing prices of flour, 20 cents a barrel having been added Saturday.

Starving Yaquis, in Raid, Kill Settler

GUAYMAS, Mexico, Aug. 21.—Five hundred starving Yaqui Indians on a food raid swooped down on a settlement eight miles inland from Guaymas and killed a man named Wilson, it was learned here yesterday.

Wilson, it was learned, was not an American. The raid, in the opinion of government officials, had no general significance.

"Better Have Him Take Charge—"

The directors decided to add another department to the business. With it came an opportunity for promotion, and the Heald graduate was placed in charge as department head.

Could You Take Charge?

Business experience and business knowledge is the deciding factor when a department head is selected. The same factor governs in the selection of the young man or young woman to fill a vacancy created by the promotion of others.

You need this experience and knowledge when you seek your first position and you need it to insure your advancement.

You can get this experience and knowledge at HEALD'S. A course of a few months at HEALD'S will fit you to be placed in a good-paying position—for HEALD'S has more calls for experienced help than it can fill.

HEALD'S night classes fit the ambitious for promotion.

Before you make a decision as to how you will start your business career send for "Results and Success," which gives some idea of what is expected of the young man or young woman in the business world. WHERE TREACHERY RAISES ITS HEAD.

All Republicans have sincerely regretted that there has been any factional controversy during the presence of California's distinguished guest, the candidate for the Presidency. The TRIBUNE has refrained from commenting upon the controversy, believing that the chief aim of a Republican paper should be the election of the head of the national ticket.

The statement made by Governor Hughes in his San Francisco speech last Friday evening was satisfactory to every Republican and to every other sensible man. That statement was as follows:

"I come here as the spokesman of the National Republican Party. With local differences I have no concern. The great national aim that we have in view transcends all local differences, and we are together, reunited, inspired by the loftiest traditions of our historic party, and devoted to the accomplishments of those great achievements upon which must rest our enduring prosperity as a nation."

There was published in a San Francisco Sunday paper, under the signature of a representative of one of the great news-gathering associations of the United States, and a man well known to be reliable, an interview with Chester H. Rowell of Fresno, one of the California members of the national Republican campaign committee.

So astounding was this interview that The TRIBUNE confidently expected a denial from Mr. Rowell in today's morning papers. There was no such denial, and it is to be assumed that Mr. Rowell was correctly quoted. Mr. Rowell took exception to the frank and fair statement made by Governor Hughes in San Francisco, quoted above. He said:

"That is feeding the people of California 'Baby pap.' Mr. Hughes might better have said nothing at all, which would have been the wisest course, than thus to ignore the claims of Progressives. He has spilled the beans. They can be unspilled, of course, if Mr. Hughes sees fit. But up to the present time I don't know whether he will or not."

The great San Francisco mass meeting of Friday last, attended by some 14,000 citizens, Mr. Rowell declared to be a frost.

In the same article quoting Mr. Rowell appeared a statement credited to John F. Neylan, one of the managers of Governor Johnson's senatorial campaign, in which Neylan slurs Governor Hughes and states that in a speech in which he mentioned the name of Hughes only a few responded with applause.

Charges have been made in the California press that Governor Johnson is not sincerely for Governor Hughes. But, while it is true that during the Progressive national convention at Chicago he spoke disparagingly of Hughes, Johnson has since announced that the Republican presidential candidate would have his loyal support. Is it not up to Governor Johnson to repudiate the open antagonism expressed by Rowell and Neylan?

If he does not do so, the people of California have strong reason to believe that the Governor is not sincerely for Hughes, but is simply using him as an instrumentality to advance his (Johnson's) senatorial candidacy.

The TRIBUNE believes that the rank and file of the Progressive party in California is loyally supporting Hughes. For this they deserve credit. That some of the leaders, however, are pursuing a contrary course is made evident by the published interviews of Rowell and Neylan.

From the moment Governor Hughes arrived in California Rowell has been giving similar interviews to the newspaper representatives with the Hughes party on alleged factional differences. These statements of Rowell have been heralded throughout the country and are being used by the Democrats against the Hughes candidacy. The committee which went to the Oregon line to greet Governor Hughes included such Progressives as Messrs. F. R. Devlin, Philip Bancroft, Max Kuhl, John F. Davis and Jesse Steinhart. When the Eastern newspaper men were apprised of this fact, they were at a loss to understand the motives of Mr. Rowell's statements.

To expect Governor Hughes to come out in favor of the Senatorial candidacy of Governor Johnson, which it is now evident is the design of Rowell, would be as ridiculous as it would be for the people of Alameda county to solicit the endorsement of Governor Hughes for one of the local candidates in the contest for the primary nomination for Congress. The good sense and discretion of both Progressives and Republicans rebel at such a thought.

If there is treachery to Hughes in California, Chester H. Rowell's Sunday interview has disclosed the source of it, and it will not be difficult to follow its activities or perceive its motives.

UNNEUTRAL MEDIATION.

Whatever may be the absolutely just way for settling the present controversy between the railway operators and the brotherhoods of workmen, it must be manifest to all who read that President Wilson has not approached the matter of avoiding a strike with a spirit of impartial consideration for both sides. He has become an open partisan of one side, and whether he is justly so or not, he is thereby disqualified as mediator. Mr. Wilson has displayed this weakness—the inability to free himself of bias and assume the role of unprejudiced judge in a debated issue—on various occasions. It seems to be a phase of his mental makeup that will not remain quiescent. If efforts at mediation fail, and a strike is declared, it will be said, with good reason, that Mr. Wilson displayed temperamental unfitness for the role of arbitrator.

The President has told the railroad operators that the employees' demand for an eight-hour day is just and should be granted, because the trend of public opinion is in favor of an eight-hour workday and that many lines of industry have become adjusted to this system. This is entirely a correct statement. But the effort of the President to force the railroad presidents to grant the demand by threats of punitive regulation is neither just nor becoming the presidential office.

Instead of insisting upon arbitration of the differences, Mr. Wilson, within the course of a few hours, devised a settlement plan which, he says, is the only practical and perfect plan and that the public expects its acceptance. The latter is not true, for what the public really expects is that a strike will be avoided at all reasonable hazards first, and, secondly, that in the final judgment a considerate hearing will be had of the claims of both sides. The public is anxious to know what the real situation of the railways are—if the operators' declaration that they are financially unable to grant the demands of the employees is based on actual conditions. Mr. Wilson has attempted no investigation before deciding upon his plan of settlement. His action is just as arrogant as the most uncompromising striking worker or the most arbitrary employer.

It is not as if there were no other alternatives. Other devices for preventing a strike have presented themselves. For instance, it has been suggested that the railways would not be averse to granting the eight-hour day after an investigation of their receipts and expenditures if held and an increase in freight rates allowed by the Interstate Commerce Commission to meet the increased disbursements on account of wages, which the railroads claim will amount to $100,000,000 annually. More genuine progress toward a final settlement would have been accomplished if Mr. Wilson had asked the railways to accept the principle of the eight-hour day pending such an investigation and readjustment of rates. It is not believed that the employees would have insisted to the last ditch against a delay of six months or a year in putting the new time and wage schedules into effect, in order to permit such a survey first to be made.

The employees are also interested in the prosperity of the railroads and certainly would not oppose reasonable delay if their demands were acceded to in principle at once. They would recognize the justness of such a course, for they know, as does the President, that the railroads are not free to change their rates to meet new conditions. A government bureau now does this, and if one side must wait on the action of the government, it is fair for the other side to do likewise.

Yet President Wilson has not taken cognizance of these conditions. He is not able to understand that both sides may be right, but insists without a trial that one side is wrong. Such tactics drove President Huerta out of Mexico and plunged that country into four years of anarchy.

THE BRITISH BLACKLIST.

(From Ottawa, Canada, Citizen.)

The Montreal Gazette remarks that the British blacklist of American firms alleged to be trading with enemies of the allies is not a thing that can be cheered for. The Gazette is right. The blacklist is, to our mind, policy of a particularly poor sort and a measure that nullifies all that has been put forward in support of the British blockade.

The situation would become particularly complicated for the United States if Germany were to blacklist firms dealing with the allies and if she were in a position to enforce such a measure. Yet we have always asserted that the United States was not favoring our cause by selling us supplies—that she was at liberty to sell the same supplies to Germany if Germany would take the risk of delivery.

That has been the strongest argument of friends of the allies in the United States and a complete reply to those German-Americans who alleged that the American people were not neutral in the sense that neutrality is understood between belligerent nations.

Now we demonstrate that this argument is not sound by blacklisting firms suspected of selling to enemy nations. We, as a matter of fact, interfere in American business and attempt to dictate to American firms regarding their customers.

It is, we think, an unwise step, particularly as the amount of business done by American firms with German houses must in the circumstances be of little or no importance. If it is of considerable volume then our blockade is admission of the failure of our blockade.

Moreover, the blacklist will likely be used to the advantage of Germany after the war. The Teutons need not worry to any very great extent over the entente understanding to boycott German trade if they can be assured of the vast markets of the United States and through that country of the markets of South America. Viewed from all angles, the blacklist looks like poor business, and poor business is a grave mistake under existing circumstances.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

From reports that have been sent back, it is evident that some who are along with the presidential party have been well fed up with the Rowellian version of the situation.

It may be rather damaging to the cause of Hiram, but Judge Bordwell wanted his name off, and the Supreme Court thought that such a reasonable request might be granted.

The president has vetoed the army bill, and now it has to be done all over again. But there won't be time for another effort from the same source. They will have to let Charley do it.

The news is that the Deutschland has come to the surface in Bremen. According to habit, she will probably also have to be sunk and captured several times before we really know what has happened.

The California game law, as expounded by the Redding Searchlight: "It is a felony in California to kill an elk, Chinese pheasant or a Missouri raven. Assemblyman C. C. McCray is from Missouri."

News from King City, relayed by the Salinas Valley Rustler: "Gabe Marguehoose was in town from San Lucas Wednesday. He has threshed over 6,000 bags of barley this season."

Very unusual accident reported in the Willits News: "Nick Tsarnas met with a serious accident while hauling a tankbar. While going down a steep grade the load tipped over and he broke his right ankle in several places."

In a divorce complaint plaintiff alleges the defendant led her to believe he was 40 when he turned out to be 69. Love may have been blind before, but it got awake mighty soon after the following day, it is disclosed. It so often happens in some such way.

The struggles in the European war zone are likely to minimize interest in the engagements on the campus. The sophomores have posted their code setting forth the rules of war and hinting at the punishments that freshies may expect for infractions.

Unambiguous item from the Richmond Terminal: "The candidate who thinks he is not receiving his share of publicity should shut out. Printer's ink is not so very high since the Deutschland came in with that 'dyke stuff'."

With excuses to the Gustine Standard: "Grandpa and Grandma Bradbury returned Sunday from a little trip down to Berkeley to see the folks. Lon and Howard took them to Tracy where they were met by a grandson who took them the rest of the way, machine all the way."

The Richmond Terminal tells how different it is politically from what it used to be: "Although this is open season, there is a dearth of candidates, and spellbinders cannot be obtained for love or money. Even attempts to lure the people into organizing political clubs prove dismal failures."

A candidate for mayor of that Nogales which is in Mexico declared in an oration that "Mexicans are the greatest people on earth." Nobody on this side of the line is taking the subject up for argument; but if it should be determined to be so a great relief would be afforded if they would show some purpose of living up to their reputation.

SPRIT OF THE STATE PRESS

It is difficult to handle horses here in the most humane manner and it requires vigilance on the part of the driver to prevent overheating.—Holtville Tribune.

America has apparently emerged from the furniture-designing horrors of the seventies of the last century. The pictures of chairs, tables, beds, sideboards, bureaus and the like which appear in the advertisements of the great stores having their annual furniture sales show that the designers have begun to study the work of the great cabinetmakers of the past centuries and to profit by what they learn. Where they cannot invent they reproduce, and they are working to such good effect that the descendants of the families who buy the well-made furniture of today will be as proud of it as are the few families who have inherited from the Colonial period the mahogany which met the approval of their ancestors.—Philadelphia Evening Ledger.

OUR NEW FURNITURE.

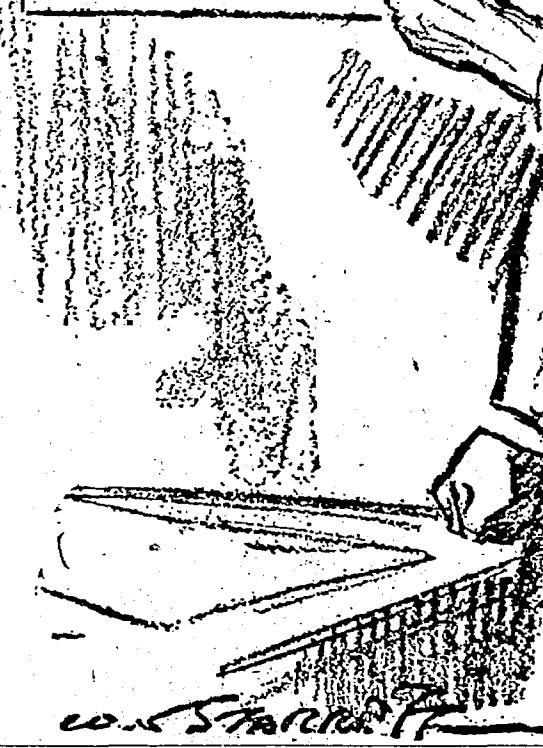

The government accepted them, mustered them in, took them away from their homes and their business, paid their way down to Texas, kept them there for a month under pay, only to re-examine and reject them and pay their way back again. Three hundred men have lost over a month's time, unless they choose to regard their trip as a rather arduous vacation, and the government has spent on them first and last not less than $60,000, and perhaps $75,000, all purposely. It looks like unnecessary foolishness.—Waterbury Republican.

THE WATERFRONT LEASE.

To the Editor of The Tribune:

A gentleman named Clark objects to my views against leasing the Oakland waterfront for a term of years because he did not find my name upon the assessment rolls of any of the trans-bay cities. Reasoning by analogy he would demur if I called upon the fire department to extinguish a fire which I discovered was burning his home. In one case the interests of many are at stake, in the other an individual alone is concerned.

Had my critic looked a little more carefully he would have discovered that I have been paying taxes in one or another of the trans-bay cities uninterrupted for the past fifteen years. In testimony of which sad experience I can offer a collection of paid tax receipts and a fast-growing heap of canceled bank checks. It is painfully evident that the researches of Mr. Clark have been very carelessly made.

Further than this, he accuses me of being a non-existent person. Mr. Storey, the very able chief engineer of the "Valley road"—now part of the Santa Fe—recognized my existence sufficiently to name one of the most prosperous towns in the San Joaquin valley in my honor. Besides I had supposed that in the course of nearly forty years close connection with the public affairs of California even a man of Mr. Clark's intelligence would have discovered that I did not, like the illustrious Junius, "stat nomina umbra"—stand with my name in darkness.

He further says that because he has found the right kind of humor in the child likes plum cake, plum cake is therefore the right food for him. It is, in other words, assuming that the child's very inexperience constitutes wisdom. It is the plea of the sentimental or the madman that every one should have what he wants, as though his wanting it constituted a valid reason.

More than one mother has said to me: "Oh, I couldn't take the Sunday funny sheet away from my children. They do on it. You would know it, if you could see how they laugh over it." It would quite as sensible to say: "Oh, I really could not take away from my child the pleasure of eating ice cream and candies that are colored with poisonous dyes, because they enjoy them so! You should see how greedily they eat them."

So it is that we take the easier course and sacrifice the child to our own laziness. It is certainly very much easier to give the child an over-colored vulgar Sunday sheet than to take the

CITY READY TO VOTE ON SMITH LEASE

Issues Exploited by Both Sides and Polls Await Decision of Community on Important Proposal of Local Millionaire

Opponents of Measure Point to Conditions Which Make Plan Undesirable to Them; Meetings Scheduled for Tonight

Well informed of the issues at stake by F. M. Smith and his associates on the one hand and by the Taxpayers' League of Alameda county and other opponents of the scheme on the other, the citizens of Oakland are ready to vote tomorrow on the question as to whether or not the city council shall be empowered to lease for 99 years a portion of the western waterfront lands lying between Seventh and Fifty-fourth streets to F. M. Smith and Rufus J. Jennings, representing Eastern Capital Corp., for investment on the Pacific coast.

Opponents of the scheme, who have been working hard in the campaign of publicity to place all the facts in the case before the voters, declare that the election will go against the Smith proposal. Members of the progress and prosperity committee, who are working vigorously for the success of the lease, are sanguine of a victory at the polls.

MEETINGS TONIGHT

Meetings both for and against the proposal are being held tonight in the four hallways of the new election campaign office at Prescott school, under the auspices of the West Oakland Business Men's and Taxpayers' Association. A debate will be held between Roscoe D. Jones, president of the city's service board, who is opposed to the lease, and Dr. Clarence Edwards, who is stumping on behalf of F. M. Smith. A meeting is to be held in the Gafford school at Twenty-third avenue and East Sixteenth street and a series of open-air speeches will be made from automobiles through the streets of districts of the city.

The proposal as set forth by F. M. Smith is to lease for a term of 99 years 268 acres of submerged land belonging to the city of Oakland under the act of the legislature of May 1, 1911. In return for this lease the capitalists will agree to expend $5,000,000 on these city lands during the next five years. One million dollars will be spent during the first two years and the same amount in each succeeding year. Of this sum $1,500,000 will be used for the construction of modern docks, the dredging of a harbor, filling up sea walls, the filling of the submerged lands. Three million five hundred thousand dollars will be spent in the building of ware houses, factories and railroad terminals on the city lands. The city is to retain ownership and control of the property and the management of the waterfront.

Opponents of the proposal point out that in the official ballot, which reads: "At least one hundred feet easterly of the stone and earthen bulkhead in the Key Route basin," there is no specific definition of an easterly boundary of the land in question. The legislative act defined the eastern boundary of the city tide lands as the

SOCIETY GIRLS HURT IN AUTO COLLISION

FOUR SUFFER FROM WRECK

Miss Ruth Vincent, U. C. Co-Ed, and Miss Florence Crellin in Car.

Miss Ruth Vincent, member of the Kappa Alpha Theta sorority at the University of California, and Miss Florence Crellin, prominent Oakland society girl, are confined at their homes, recovering from shock and bruises. Mrs. Leah Silverman of 1716 Webster street is at the Roosevelt hospital, in serious condition, and Fitzhugh Erickson, son of the only woman railroad president in the world, is also suffering from minor injuries as the result of an automobile collision at Webster street and College avenue, Berkeley.

Erickson's machine, in which were Miss Crellin and Miss Vincent, was traveling at a moderate rate of speed across the Silverman machine. The drivers did not see each other on account of the trees at the crossing. The fact that neither machine was traveling fast saved the lives of the party.

Erickson is the son of Mrs. Meta Miller, formerly Mrs. Meta Erickson, who married M. K. Miller of Oakland some weeks ago, and is a student at the University of California. Miss Vincent is the daughter of Clarence D. Vincent, a contractor of Piedmont, and Miss Crellin is the daughter of Thomas A. Crellin of 1561 Jackson street, director of the Central Bank and prominent Oakland financier.

YOUTH FATALLY HURT

Kentfield Jensen, aged 17, was fatally injured, according to attending physicians, as the result of an accident on the State highway, near Kentfield Park, last night, when he was struck by an automobile.

The driver of the machine, drove away without rendering aid. An investigation is being made by the authorities.

M. F. Gibbons of Vallejo is dead today as the result of injuries sustained in an accident on the Vallejo-Napa road, when an automobile, driven by Charles Mills of San Francisco, in which he was riding, was thrown against the railroad tracks near Sausal.

Miss Besse Herring, 1001 Post street, San Francisco, is suffering from dangerous injuries as the result of an accident at Polk and Ellis streets, where she was pinned under an automobile in which she was riding, with D. J. McPherson of 555 Fell street.

This machine was struck by a touring car owned by Mrs. Frances O'Brien on the O'Farrell street hill near Ellis.

The McPherson car was overturned, pinning the girl beneath it. She will recover.

WRECK, THEN WEDDING.

Howard H. Becker Jr. of San Francisco and his bride, who was Miss Teresa R. Ravit, are off on their honeymoon, despite the fact that the wedding was delayed yesterday when the bridegroom was injured in an automobile accident.

Court plaster and bandages were applied while the priest waited and the wedding then proceeded. Becker, with his father, were on their way to the wedding when their machine was struck by a Geary street car. The Becker car turned aside to avoid the automobile of Herbert Stockton, on the curb at the Hotel Stewart. The automobile was dragged forty feet. Becker Jr. was badly cut and scratched, but otherwise escaped injury.

The wedding occurred at the hotel after first aid had been rendered.

Special Train From Here Takes Delegates

The Grand Council of the Young Men's Institute is now in session at Santa Cruz and many members from Oakland, Alameda and Berkeley are in attendance.

The opening of the council was preceded by a parade in which marched 1000 members of the Young Men's and Young Ladies' Institutes.

A special train from Oakland took a large delegation to the seaside city, which appeared to good advantage along the line of march.

The procession, with the thirty-piece band of California Council, Alameda, and the drill team of St. Joseph's Institute, Young Ladies' Institute, going through its evolutions.

RANK FILES SUIT.

Claiming a debt of $20,000 the Fugazi Popular Bank of Oakland and San Francisco today filed foreclosure papers against John M. and Ellen G. Lundholm, seeking property at Seventh and Franklin streets, security for the loan, in lieu of payment.

R. B. Mott, O. P. Stidger, Leah Mott and others claiming an interest in the property, are named as co-defendants in the action in the Superior court.

PLEADS GUILTY.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 21.—Ralph Parr, manager of the piano department of the Emporium, accused of embezzlement of $3800, changed his plea from not guilty to guilty in the Superior court this morning and will be sentenced Saturday. His counsel contemplates making a motion for probation.

At no time in the history of optical science has there been as wonderful an achievement as the perfecting of the newly patented "Caltex One-piece" bifocals, or double vision lenses.

These lenses are ground from a single piece of clear, optically pure glass, and combine reading and distance vision in one. They fulfill every requirement of double vision lenses and take the place of two pairs of glasses. When worn, the reading portion is practically invisible, having the appearance of regular glasses. All of the disagreeable features of the old style bifocals have been eliminated, making the "Cortex" the most perfect bifocal in the world today. Substitutes are being offered, so remember the name and insist upon having "Cortex."

BOMB PLOT DEFENDANTS MAKE PLEA

Three Face Court Ready for Trial as Chief Counsel Waives Technical Fight and Will Now Force Police to Prove Cases

"Not Guilty!" is Answer of Mooney and Wife and Billings When Charge Is Read; Two Other Prisoners Seek Delays

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 21.—Why guilty were the pleas made today by Thomas J. Mooney, agitator of the United Railroads strike attempt, his wife Rena, a music teacher, and Warren K. Billings to three indictments for murder before Superior Judge Franklin Griffin today.

Edward D. Nolan, labor leader, and Israel Weinberg, jitney bus driver, the other two accused in connection with the killing of nine persons by a bomb exploded in the pre-paredness parade, were not called upon to plead. Their counsel have interposed motions to set aside the indictments and demurred, and these were continued until 4 o'clock this afternoon.

The foreman and secretary of the grand jury, several members of that body and a newspaper man will be examined as witnesses.

Attorney Maxwell McNutt, chief counsel for the members of the alleged dynamite ring, swept aside all technicalities today and allowed three of his clients to plead without the interposition of any motion. The fact that motions had been made already in the other two cases led to their continuance.

IMMIGRATION TO BE TAKEN UP BY SENATE

Upper House Votes to Consider Bill in Spite of Democratic Caucus to Postpone Action Until Congress Meets Again

Passage of Measure Deemed Assured by Proceedings of Today; Galleries Cleared for Debate on Asiatic Provisions

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—The Senate today voted to take up the immigration bill, which the Democratic caucus had determined to postpone until next session. Nine Democrats voted with Republicans for the motion.

When debate on the provisions relating to Asiatics was begun, galleries were cleared and consideration of those features proceeded in secret.

Passage of the bill seemed assured by today's action and it was predicted the bill would be brief. President Wilson vetoed the bill last year because of the literacy test.

Some Democratic senators believe the president will not veto the bill again, although it retains the literacy test to which he then objected. Those who think the president might sign the bill point out that veterans are in which he has other.

"I have no pride of opinion in this question. I am not foolish enough to profess to know the wishes and ideals of America better than the body of her chosen representatives know them. I only want instruction direct from those whose fortunes, with ours and all men's, are involved."

Senators in favor of immediate action on the bill agree that in these words the president left an opening for reversal of his former action, and they will endeavor to convince him that the people of the country now do want the literacy test as a bar against the flood of immigration which will follow the war.

The motion to take up the bill was made by Senator Smith of South Carolina, chairman of the immigration committee. The committee has amended the House bill in an effort to meet objections of Japan to sections relating the Asiatic exclusion.

Protest S. P. Use of Engines Is Heard

J. Zinke and a number of other North Oakland residents filed a protest with the council today against the practice of the Southern Pacific Company in using steam locomotives to shift freight cars over their electric lines on Stanford avenue. The protest was referred to Mayor John L. Davis for a report.

The council adjourned with the adoption of resolutions of condolence for the death of Mrs. Tessie Baccus, mother of Street Commissioner W. J. Baccus. The funeral of Mrs. Baccus was held this morning.

Carnegie in Maine in Feeble Condition

BAR HARBOR, Me., Aug. 21.—Andrew Carnegie arrived here yesterday in such feeble condition that he could not walk without support. He arrived on his yacht The Surf, which he boarded two weeks ago for a cruise off the Connecticut coast.

Carnegie and his party came ashore for an automobile ride around Mount Desert Island. The steel magnate had great difficulty in stepping from the launch to the float at the New York Yacht Club's landing. As he walked toward the automobile he leaned heavily on the arms of attendants.

Hello Girls Hold Picnic

Twenty telephone operators of Oakland, San Francisco, and other bars met Sunday at Idlewood park where a basket luncheon, dancing and a general good time was in order. Among the invited guests was Mrs. J. A. Toye of Coalinga.

CALOMEL BAD FOR THE LIVER

Dose of Nasty Calomel Makes You Sick and You Lose a Day's Work.

Calomel salivates! It's mercury. Calomel acts like dynamite on a sluggish liver. When calomel comes into contact with sour bile it crashes into it, causing cramping and nausea. If you feel sickly-headed, go to your druggist and get a 50 cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tonic, which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

If you take calomel today you'll be sick and nauseated tomorrow; but if you take Dodson's Liver Tonic you will wake up feeling great, full of ambition and ready for work or play. It's harmless, pleasant and safe to give to children: they like it.—Advertised.

WANT AN ANSWER BOOK? YES! WHOLE FAMILY HELPING

And Each One Has a Different 'Best Title' for Every Picture

Some of the letters received by the Picturegame Editor are tragic, some gay, some very communicative and personal. Here's one:

I need the Reply Book badly, for the whole family have thrown themselves into the Picturegame. When it started I had set aside goods, and quite playing it alone, with the lists clipped from the paper, but first one got to looking over my shoulder, then another, and finally I gave up and made it a family pastime.

As result we have as many different sets of titles as we have members of the family. Of course we agree on the best titles for some of the pictures, but in other cases we disagree very noisy.

CHILD TO FIGHT ESTATE TRUSTEE

Heiress Louise Davis Ordered to Leave "Mammy," Seeks Law.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 21.—Safe guarded as to her legal rights by Attorney Henry F. Marshall and watched over by her negro "mammy," Mrs. Adams-Davis, who declares that "Abraham Lincoln didn't write no such laws as would send my little girl back to a man she never done seed," Louise Davis, the 14-year-old heiress who has been ordered to leave San Francisco for Cincinnati, where the guardian of her $100,000 estate wants her to live. She is still in her French apartment. She is packing her trunk, but she declares that she is going to her mother in New York, and not to Cincinnati.

Marshall has secured a delay of the court order until Tuesday, and is preparing an appeal to the United States District Court against the removal. He contends that there is no law which empowers the Juvenile Court to transfer a ward from one state to another without her consent. The battle over Miss Davis promises to bring up some fine legal points for decision.

Attorney Alexander Crofton has been engaged to assist Marshall in defending Miss Davis against the order of removal. He says that a petition will be filed today asking that Mrs. Caroline Wynn of this city, an old friend of the Davis family, be appointed guardian while the girl's mother is away, if the Juvenile Court finds it necessary for her to have a guardian.

"I am going back to New York to my mother," announced Miss Davis today. "I do not believe that any court will send me away to a man I never saw in my life and who is no relation to me whatsoever, except that he is trustee of an estate left to me. My mother has taken care of me all my life, and if people here think it isn't proper for me to be living alone with my old 'mammy,' we'll just pack up and go back to New York."

"I have not paid much attention to my estate. I know that after I come of age, it is to be paid to me in a number of $20,000 payments. My mother has paid all by bills heretofore."

Oakland Party Is Wrecked in Bay

Half a score of women and girls, members of a gay launching party on the bay yesterday, are today recovering from the shock of a narrow escape, following a collision in which their pleasure boat and the Red Stack tug Liberty came together near Dead Man's rock. The party, thrown into the water of the bay by the impact, was rescued through the prompt work of Captain Lewis Harvey of the Liberty and crews of the tugs Reliance, Sea King and Marian Chilcott.

Mrs. George M. Lewis, with her husband, of 2011 East Seventeenth street, were entertaining a crowd on their launch Lillian L when the vessels came together. The smaller launch, splintered by the shock, turned turtle. The tugs, commanded by the Liberty's whistle, were hurried to the rescue. Several Oakland guests were in the incident, including L. H. Briscoe, 2724 Fourteenth street; Henry Handy, 224 Ferlita street; Jack Percy, 342 Ferlita street; Mr. and Mrs. George M. Lewis and W. E. King.

EXPECT NEW SHIPPING MARK. COLIFAX, Aug. 21.—Over seventy cars of fruit have been shipped from the orchard fruit houses to date, and it is expected the total will probably exceed a hundred carloads, or considerably more than last year. Some of the pears shipped from here brought prices as high as $3.30 per box in the East.

WINS PROBATION ON WIFE'S PLEA

Court Kind to Aged George Clunie, Heir to Estate.

"If I get drunk while I am on probation—if I am fortunate enough to be placed on probation—I hope the judge will put me in jail for the rest of my natural life."

Thus spoke George A. Clunie, who is 68 years old, in the police court of Police Judge Mortimer Smith today when his aged wife, Joel Clunie, 3620 Porter street, appeared to prefer charges of drunkenness, robbery and threats against life against him.

At his request, his wife interceded for him and Judge Smith placed the aged delinquent on two years' probation, with the warning that he would sentence him to six months' imprisonment if he entered a saloon or drank intoxicants during that period.

Clunie is one of the heirs of the Clunie estate, receiving a large monthly income from it. Three months ago, after a married life of almost half a century, he and his wife separated. In court today Mrs. Clunie said that their married life had been ideal except at the times Clunie indulged in liquor.

"Will you ask the judge to place me on probation?" the old man pleaded with his wife of many years, from behind his place in the prisoners' cage.

"Judge," she asked, turning to the court, "will you give him another chance? He's a good man when he does not drink."

There were tears in the eyes of both as the old man was released from the wire cage.

DOCKMEN RESUME WORK ABOUT BAY

Agreement Between Stevedores and Employers Is Accepted.

Dock men and handlers of steamer freight are working today on both sides of the bay, in conformity with an agreement entered into between the conference committee of the Waterfront Employers' Union, the Riggers and Stevedores' Union and the Federation of Waterfront Workers. The compromise leaves the working conditions practically the same as they were before the men went on strike, but the Riggers and Stevedores' Union ratified the agreement by a vote of more than five to one.

As regards closed-shop conditions, the employers agree to employ union stevedores when they are available. The wages agreed to are 65 cents an hour for all time, and 4½ cents an hour overtime in the coasting and trade routes and chartered steamers operated by regular lines. One dollar overtime is to be paid on a certain class of work and on deep-water sailing vessels and steamers not running as regular liners.

According to dispatches from other Pacific Coast cities, the agreement is purely local in character and inoperative elsewhere. David Madson, chairman of the strike committee in Seattle, declares that the San Francisco agreement may help in settling the strike in that city, but the employers there far are standing firm. A similar situation prevails in Tacoma and Portland. From San Pedro word comes that the stevedores are still on strike, although the lumbermen returned to work some time ago.

Put Oil in Stove; Explosion Follows

J. G. Stewart of 1835 Thirteenth avenue is suffering from severe burns today as the result of an explosion caused by oil. The burning material had been saturated with coal oil, and when Stewart applied the match an explosion followed, which blew out one side of the kitchen wall and the kitchen windows. Damages amounted to $100. Stewart was treated for his burns by members of the fire department who answered the alarm. The blaze was extinguished easily.

ARE YOU LOOKING OLD? Old age comes quick enough without inviting it. Some look old at forty. That is because they neglect the liver and bowels. Keep your bowels regular and your liver healthy and you will not only feel younger but look younger. When troubled with constipation or biliousness take Chamberlain's Tablets. They are intended especially for the elderly and infirm. Easy to take and most agreeable in effect. For sale by Osgood Bros. Drug Stores.—Advertisement.

Youth Recovering From Picket Injury

Following a restful night at the Fabiola hospital, where he was taken after his impalement on an iron picket fence at Mosswood park, 8-year-old Sherman Ayres, 334 West street, is to do considerably on the road to recovery. The boy endeavored to show his father, Thomas Ayres, how he could scale the fence, and took the high metal fence surrounding the city park for his trial. He managed to reach the top, but slipped and became impaled on one of the sharp bars.

He was removed to Fabiola hospital, where an operation was performed. His condition was considered serious at the time, and it was even thought that he was at the point of death. A good night's sleep encouraged his physicians, however. Sherman was taking a walk near the park with his father when the accident occurred.
